Nidec Updates Status of Operations in Thailand

Nidec Corporation (NYSE: NJ) (the “Company”) announced today the current status of its manufacturing operations in areas affected by the recent flooding in Thailand.

Nidec Electronics (Thailand) Co., Ltd. resumed operations in Rojana on December 1. As of today, nine out of the ten factories of the Company and its subsidiaries in the affected areas are back in operation at either their own facilities or alternative locations. We will continue our efforts to further improve the utilization of the factories whose operations have resumed and to bring the Company’s other flood-stricken factories back into operation to the earliest extent possible.

The exact amount of damage and the effect of the floods on the Company’s performance are being assessed currently. We will continue to report on any actual or potential impact on the Company’s business performance in a prompt manner.
